

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods for determining inhibitors of protein interactions are provided. The method involves evaluation of potential inhibitors that can inhibit or prevent protein interactions. The method provides for high-throughput identification of novel therapeutics that can treat a 5 disease or disorder by inhibiting protein interactions.